

Jackie 'Kennedy Look' for Inaugural Unveiled

By MARY LEE THOMPSON
Mrs. John F. Kennedy yesterday authorized her official fashion designer, Oleg Cassini, to issue descriptions of the wardrobe he has designed for her for the inaugural ceremonies and for her early spring activities as First Lady.

In her wardrobe are the following:
A daytime ensemble consisting of a one-piece soft wool dress in taupe (beige) trimmed in matching silk serge at the waistline and cuffs.

THE MATCHING coat is a soft wool semi-fitted in shape with a restrained flared hemline and a removable circle collar of Russian sable fastened with a small bow.

The gown to be worn during the inaugural festivities is of pristine white satin. Simple and fluid in line, it has a beguiling bow at the waistline. Sketches of the gown will not be released until Jan. 19.

In a statement to the fashion editors gathered at the Pierre Hotel for the semi-annual New York couture showings, Cassini said it was the greatest honor of his career to be chosen the official and personal designer for the soon-to-be First Lady.

Why was he chosen by Mrs. Kennedy? Simply because she liked the sketches he sent to her. He was later informed by Pierre Salinger that he had been selected to design Mrs. Kennedy's entire wardrobe including hats, furs, gloves, shoes, handbags.

Party's Over

Pie Throwers Held

The party's over. That was the ugly truth facing five men at 7:30 A.M. today following a pie-throwing melee in a crowded Flushing diner at 40-15 Lawrence street.

The quintet started by rubbing each other's noses in the establishment's cream pies. They wound up by tossing them at each other while customers ducked for cover.

20,000 Vehicles in 12 Hours

Throgs Span Collects $5,000 on First Day

Traffic rolled over the new Queens-Bronx Throgs Neck Bridge to the tune of better than $5,000 during the span's first 12 hours of operation. The Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority told The Star-Journal yesterday a total of 20,649 cash-paying customers took advantage of the new $92,000,000 bridge between the time it opened shortly before noon Wednesday to midnight of the same day.

Neither exact revenue figures nor a breakdown as to the number of cars and trucks using the facility were immediately available, but the toll take could have been no less than $5,162.25. That would be the total if all the vehicles had been cars, paying the minimum 25 cent fee. Trucks pay more.

As for its first full day of operation yesterday, at least another $6,729.50 was paid in tolls. The new bridge carried 26,918 vehicles as compared to 52,348 on its "competition," the Bronx-Whitestone span. On the same day last week the Bronx-Whitestone carried 73,841 vehicles.

Thus, the Throgs Neck Bridge is credited with easing the traffic load on the White-stone Bridge by more than a third so far.

Forgery Suspect Held for Jury

Uruguay Boots Cuban, Soviet

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—The Uruguayan government has ordered the Cuban ambassador and the Soviet Embassy's first secretary out of the country, charging they were connected with pro-Castro demonstrations and street fights.

The expulsion order was voted last night by Uruguay's 9-man governing council, which reportedly is split 5-4 against an outright break in diplomatic relations with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime. The majority want to wait until more Latin American nations take the step.

THE DECISION declaring Cuban Ambassador Mario Garcia Inchaustegui and Soviet Secretary Mikhail K. Samilov persona non grata brought still another demonstration by admirers of Castro. A crowd of about 4,000 gathered in Montevideo's streets, shouting "Cuba yes! Yankees no!"

A force of 1,500 police wearing steel helmets prevented any violence.

pilot flying the plane spotting for the rebels was not determined.

Each of the American-supplied T6's is armed with two 30-caliber machine guns and has racks for two 100-pound bombs and two 2.36-inch rockets. Use of the planes for just for observation, raised fears among British and French diplomats here that the Russians or Red Chinese in retaliation would supply combat planes for use against the anti-Communist forces.

The planes were reported attacking in the area of the Nam Lic River, 70 miles north of Vientiane, where two companies of government forces were reported engaged with a rebel force of about the same size.

Army sources said Premier Boun Oum's government is applying steady pressure on this front in an effort to link up with government units pushing down from Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

48 years. He was graduated from Princeton University in 1895 and then went to New York Law School where he obtained his law degree. He was admitted to the bar in 1897.

UNTIL HIS retirement two years ago, Judge Inch put in a full work day, shot golf in the low 80's and kept passing physical examinations.

In 1948 he suffered a slight illness and spent a few days in Flushing Hospital. It was the first time he was absent from court in 25 years.

Well-liked and highly respected by all jurists in the state, he was once described by former Governor Thomas Dewey as a "distinguished jurist."

He was the first Queens man appointed to the federal bench.

JUDGE INCH, chief judge of the Eastern District Court, which covers all of Long Island and Staten Island, was succeeded by Federal Judge John R. Bartels of Brooklyn.

He was a member of the Queens Bar Association, Brooklyn Bar Association, Princeton Triangle Club and the Adelphi Lodge of Masons in Manhattan.

Services will be held Sunday at 4 P.M. in Stutzmann's Funeral Home at 224-39 Jamaica Avenue, Queens Village. Burial will be private.

and "took them home in order to engage in this regular feminine occupation."

Judge John Van Voorhis, who wrote the majority opinion, said a wide variety of objects, such as fountain pens, nails and trinkets, might come under the ban against possession of "any knife or sharp-pointed or edged instrument which may be used for cutting or puncturing."

CHIEF JUDGE Charles Desmond and Associate Judge Marvin R. Dye, who dissented, said in an opinion written by Desmond: "This is a drastic statute but it was enacted by reasonable and practical men to deal with a desperate situation and to protect the peace and safety of a crowded city, difficult to govern at best."

The New York City law provided a maximum punishment of 30 days in jail and a $50 fine.

SURVIVORS told how earthquakes sent tons of dirt and rock plunging down the mountain slopes onto the train, covering some of the cars with 75 feet of debris.

Ships Capsize, Six Missing

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP)—A howling storm capsized two Coast Guard vessels at the mouth of the Columbia River last night. The Coast Guard said six men are missing.

22 Gs for Injury Half-Million Suit Settled

Severely injured when an auto crashed into a tree in Central Park, a 20-year-old Astoria youth settled his $500,000 suit against the car's owner and driver for $22,000 in Jamaica Supreme Court.

Attorneys for the complainant, Richard Sorenson of 25-03 44th street, and for the defendant, Vincenzo DiStefano and his son, Dominic, both of Manhattan, worked out the settlement in a pre-trial conference before Supreme Court Justice Samuel Rabin.

Sorenson's suit stated that on Dec. 12, 1958, he was a passenger in the elder DiStefano's car which was being driven by the son. As they rounded a curve in Central Park, the suit declared, the car slammed into a tree.

SORENSEN said that as a result of the accident he suffered multiple fractures of the right thigh and hip and had to undergo extensive surgery for removal of bone fragments.

In addition, Sorenson claimed, he spent two months in Roosevelt Hospital and an equal time recuperating at home. He said he first had to use crutches and now walks with a cane.

He also suffered a brain concussion, shock and cuts and bruises, the suit charged.

EX-BEEPS

"The Moore Commission proposal is a lot of hogwash."

"I think the commission would do better if it looked into eliminating state power over local affairs and gave the city and the counties more home rule."

"The commission is going to have to revise this proposal if it wants to get anywhere on City Charter Revision."

"Curtailling the borough president is silly. Without him, the people would have no direct say in their local affairs."

Gerosa, Wagner Apart in Report

Mayor Wagner and City Comptroller Lawrence E. Gerosa were back on different sides of the fence today. The barrier this time between the two city officials was the leaked version of a state commission studying charter revision for New York City.

Gerosa said yesterday that he would fight any attempts by the commission to reduce his office to figurehead status.

The report will recommend a "strong mayor" form of charter, with a consequent reduction in the comptroller's rights and duties.

Gerosa said that there is "nothing in the present charter to prevent the mayor from being as strong as he wants to be."

Mayor Wagner commented that the comptroller is "entitled to his opinion."

They were conducting a roundup of scofflaws. According to O'Brien, the come an engineer when he finishes high school said he picked his winning numbers "out of my head."

What is he going to do with the cash? He said he will not know until he talks it over with his parents. When reached yesterday the boy was at home taking care of his younger brother, Andrew, 10.

His father, Herbert Russell is a foreman in a lamp shade factory. His mother, Esther, is a bookkeeper in a Manhattan office.

WALLACE WHO retired as secretary-treasurer of a firm which manufactures parts for locomotives said he picked his winning combination off the numbers from his two bank books.

How will he spend his money?

"It happened so suddenly, I haven't had time to think. I never thought I would win. I just played for fun."

There was no $10,000 winner this week, because no one turned in an entry with the same nine winning numbers in the same order as those chosen by Henry Fonda, now starring in the Broadway play, "The Critics Choice" at the Barrymore Theatre.

MAYBE YOU'LL be the $10,000 winner next week. It could happen, you know.

What combination will turn the trick?

You'll never know unless you try.

Watch for the next "Dial M... for money" entry in The Star-Sunday and in The Star-Journal on Monday. Try it!

JFK, Rusk Confer

the Air Force and Thomas D. Morris, now an assistant director of the Budget Bureau, will be assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics.

The President-elect last night chose Edward Gudeman, Chicago investment banker, to be undersecretary of commerce. Gudeman, 54, is a former vice president and at present a director of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Last year he became a general partner in the investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers.

In his Washington testimony, Rusk was questioned by senators about his views on Red China, Cuba, summit conferences, American flyers being held by Russia, and U. S. relations with the nation's allies.

ON COMMUNIST China, Rusk said he sees no present prospect of the United States establishing normal diplomatic relations with the Red regime.

But he said, "the presence in mainland China of a large and powerful force is one of the facts... we cannot ignore."

As for the anti-American Castro government of Cuba, Rusk said he is very much disturbed by that situation. He called for intensified efforts to get the truth to the people of Latin America, through the United States Information Agency.

Rusk left open the possibility of Kennedy attending a summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev — provided there was some hope such talks would be fruitful.

He also said the new administration will do its best to win freedom for two U. S. Air Force fliers held by the Soviet Union since their plane was downed north of Russia last year.

Knit Machine Gyps Jailed

Two kingpins in the knitting machine racket were sentenced to 18 months in prison today by Judge Leo F. Rayfield in Brooklyn Federal Court.

Samuel Stein of 157-15 12th avenue, Whitestone, and Mark Baren of Buffalo were given the jail terms by Judge Rayfield.

With the consent of U. S. Attorney Elliott Kahaner, the two were allowed to go free on $5,000 bail, pending an appeal of their convictions by a jury last Dec. 7.

The Strict-Matador Corp. of New York and the Marjays Sales Corporation were each fined $10,000 and the Strict-Matador Corp. of Ohio was fined $2,000.
